The biennial Job's Reunion organised by David & Susan Rowlands is almost here again. It's hard to believe that almost two years has passed since the last get-together back in 2007. The reunions are always well attended and give former Job's employees and friends of the company the opportunity of meeting up and exchanging all the latest news.

This years reunion promises to be the biggest and best ever, as more and more people find the Job's website and look forward to an evening of nostalgia, chat and great company.
